

INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY FOR THE RECONSTRUCTION OF AFGHANISTAN

The International Community for the Reconstruction of Afghanistan (ICRA) is a non-profit organization established in 2001. Its mission is to support the reconstruction and development of Afghanistan, including the reconstruction of infrastructure, the promotion of economic growth, and the improvement of social services. ICRA works in partnership with the Afghan government and other international organizations to achieve its goals.

ICRA has a wide range of projects and programs in progress, including the reconstruction of roads, bridges, schools, and hospitals. It also provides technical assistance and training to Afghan government officials and private sector professionals. ICRA's work is focused on the most vulnerable and underserved areas of Afghanistan.

ICRA is a member of the United Nations Development Group and the World Bank Group. It has received funding from a number of international organizations, including the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), the European Union, and the United Kingdom.

ICRA is committed to transparency and accountability in all of its activities. It publishes an annual report detailing its work and financial performance. ICRA also maintains an open website where interested parties can learn more about its work and contact the organization.

ICRA is a registered charity in the United Kingdom and a public benefit corporation in the United States. It is subject to the laws and regulations of both countries.

For more information, please contact us at info@icra.org or www.icra.org

'International Community for the Reconstruction of Afghanistan' is a non-profit organization established in 2001. Its mission is to support the reconstruction and development of Afghanistan, including the reconstruction of infrastructure, the promotion of economic growth, and the improvement of social services. ICRA works in partnership with the Afghan government and other international organizations to achieve its goals.

ICRA has a wide range of projects and programs in progress, including the reconstruction of roads, bridges, schools, and hospitals. It also provides technical assistance and training to Afghan government officials and private sector professionals. ICRA's work is focused on the most vulnerable and underserved areas of Afghanistan.

ICRA is a member of the United Nations Development Group and the World Bank Group. It has received funding from a number of international organizations, including the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), the European Union, and the United Kingdom.

ICRA is committed to transparency and accountability in all of its activities. It publishes an annual report detailing its work and financial performance. ICRA also maintains an open website where interested parties can learn more about its work and contact the organization.

ICRA is a registered charity in the United Kingdom and a public benefit corporation in the United States. It is subject to the laws and regulations of both countries.

For more information, please contact us at info@icra.org or www.icra.org

